Canals

You won't go far in Britain without coming across a canal. The canal network in Britain covers almost 3,500 kilometres A _____. Canals are still in use and they are very much part of the British landscape. It was the Romans who introduced canals to Britain, mainly to link rivers. The road system was then under-developed so an alternative was badly needed. The first major canal was the Bridgewater canal in 1761. B _____, the Bridgewater canal was an engineering masterpiece and it had a dramatic effect on local industries; coal prices fell 60 %. The Bridgewater canal started what can be called a canal boom. In the early days, boats were pulled by horses. With a boat, it was possible for a horse to pull more than ten times what it could in a cart. Horses were used C _____. Animal lovers certainly welcomed this change because the life of a canal horse was far from easy.

The use of canals started to fall in the middle of the nineteenth century when railways started to be built. Trains were much faster, economical D _____. A whole way of life changed as canals were much more than just transport. Whole families used to live on canal boats. E _____, when many were just abandoned, canals have become popular again as tourist attractions or holiday destinations. Canal tours, with the boats a lot more comfortable today, are a great way of appreciating British history. Long may this tradition continue.

I got to notice two masked men in tuxedo suits running towards the car while holding on their shoulders great tin-size duffel bags. One of them ~~some~~ swiftly approached the vehicle and opened the trunk, I've decided to slowly crawl up to them in order not to draw attention, I knew exactly that there is something sketchy going on. Upon reaching the vehicle with two men loading bags inside of it I got to hear them whispering to each other.

Both of them were looking like if they were conducting an act of felony, ~~for~~ and I've got to hear whatever they were whiskpering to each other (for me as a res of simplicity let's name them L and N correspondingly):

L: "This ~~ones~~ is a big of a catch!
We are definitely going to get rich with this one!"

N: "Sure. That is what I told you, we will be untouched, ~~did~~ ^I ~~la~~ ^{ever} doubt me?"

This was it. I hurried up and called the police. Both of them were already driving away when the police patrol caught up to them eventually leading to their arrest.

Conclusion of the story: One should not violate the law and be respectful to other fellow citizens unless you want to go to prison.
- this is a ~~paragonism~~.
